

Orthopaedics – Hip Replacement

Introduction

The Covid pandemic has significantly impacted on the NHS ability to deliver planned elective care to patients. We recognise that patients are waiting longer than we would all like and it is not always possible to identify when treatment will take place. This document provides you with information on how you are able to support yourself while waiting to attend the hospital. The guidance has been written by clinicians who are responsible for your care.

Hip replacement surgery is a very good treatment for arthritis related hip pain. Although your surgeon will have discussed risks and benefits with you and given you other information we want to reassure you that hip replacement surgery is safe and delivers good outcomes.

Guidance for Patients

Whilst waiting for your treatment we would advise continuing with the pain medication you have been prescribed. You should try and avoid sitting in low chairs as your arthritis can make it challenging for you to get in and out of these. Try to avoid lifting heavy weights, could you use a trolley for your shopping? Please remember to use any walking aids you have been given, or ask for some if you have not. Using a stick whilst you walk takes some of the pressure off your hip joint and therefore can make it less difficult to get about, it also gives you support if you feel your leg is going to give way.

Try to keep active, even if this is just a short walk daily. By doing this you are helping to maintain the muscle strength around your hip joint.

If you are overweight trying to lose weight will benefit you – this takes some pressure off your joint now but it will also benefit you when you come to have your surgery.

What should I do if my health is deteriorating?

We would ask you to look out for deteriorating symptoms in your hip. Has the pain become excessively worse, are you unable to bear weight on that leg, does the leg give way on you regularly. If this is the case please get back in touch with us – your clinician may organise to discuss this with you on the phone or organise follow up.

Please also be mindful of aspects of your general health, or other medical conditions, deteriorating which may impact on your fitness for surgery. If this is the case please contact your General Practitioner so that your general health can be optimised appropriately.

If your mental health is affected and you are feeling low or anxious it is important to seek help and support from your GP, family and/or friends. There are also helplines and websites which can offer support if you don't feel able to talk to someone.
