

Oral and Maxillofacial department- surgical removal of tooth (Adult)

Introduction

The COVID pandemic has had a significant effect on the NHS' ability to provide routine planned treatments. We recognise that patients are waiting longer than we would all like and it is not always possible to know when treatment will take place. This document provides you with information on how you can best support yourself while waiting to attend the hospital. The guidance has been written by clinicians who are responsible for your care.

Guidance for Patients

If you have pain from the tooth/teeth requiring removal, over the counter pain medication should help most symptoms. If not, rinsing with salty water (do not swallow) and a softer diet can also help. If the pain continues beyond this, we would recommend you contact your local dentist who referred as they may be able to provide other treatments in the meantime, to reduce the pain.

Should you develop a mild swelling (on the gum/tooth area only), please contact your GP or dentist for further treatment.

Whilst you are waiting for your surgery, it is important that you continue to take any medication prescribed to you by either your GP or another hospital doctor. This may include medication specific to the condition and medication for other conditions but importance for general health maintenance eg. blood pressure medicines. If you feel that you need a review of your medication, please contact your GP.

What should I do if my health is deteriorating?

Should you develop any swelling that effects eye opening, eating and drinking, breathing, or results in a change of voice or swallowing, please contact your GP/Dentist or telephone 111.

Keep Moving

Keeping active is great for not just your physical health – it can help with your emotional well-being too. If you are able to, a 20 minute walk each day can help protect your heart, support weight loss, keep your memory sharp, improve your mood and help you sleep better. Walking for Health is an NHS website that provides more information on how to exercise safely. You can find the website at www.nhs.uk/live-well/exercise/walking-for-health

Improve Your Health

Stopping smoking is easier if people in your life support you. Let them know you are planning to quit smoking so they can help. There is a Smokefree National Helpline manned by expert advisors available between 9am and 8pm. You can call them on 0300 123 1044. For details of services available locally in Shropshire and Telford & Wrekin visit www.shropshiretelfordandwrekinccg.nhs.uk/health-advice/stop-smoking If you live in Powys you may wish to search <https://pthb.nhs.wales/services/virtual-and-online-services>

Good Mental Health

Stress is a natural reaction to life factors such as health, school, work family etc. Sometimes our problems can lead to low mood or something more serious. The following are just some of the ways that have been shown to improve mental health and wellbeing: get active, have lunch with a friend, try a new hobby, learn new skills, meditate or practice yoga. If you feel you need more support whilst you wait for your hospital appointment you may wish to contact the following community Services:

- Shropshire/Telford & Wrekin ACCESS service. Call 0300 124 0365 or email shropshire@mpft.nhs.uk
